1. Purpose

This policy sets out the standards of conduct expected of every staff member.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all staff, contractors and interns.

3. Definitions

- Conflict of interest: a situation where personal interests could affect a staff member's decisions.
- Relative: a spouse, parent, child, sibling or in-law.
- Gift register: the branch register where gifts are declared.

4. Roles and responsibilities

- Staff member: follows this policy and declares conflicts and gifts.
- Line manager: ensures their team follows this policy.
- Compliance: advises on conflicts and reviews gift declarations.

5. Procedure

5.1 Conflicts of interest

Declare any conflict of interest to your line manager in writing as soon as it arises, and once a year on the annual declaration.

5.2 Own and relatives' transactions [MANDATORY CONTROL]

Staff must not process, approve or authorise transactions on their own accounts or the accounts of relatives. Pass them to another officer.

5.3 Gifts and hospitality

Gifts of up to TZS 100,000 may be accepted and recorded in the gift register. Gifts above TZS 100,000 must be declined or declared to Compliance. Cash gifts are never accepted.

5.4 Confidentiality

Customer and bank information may be used only for work and shared only with people who need it for their work.

5.5 Social media

Do not post customer information, internal documents or photographs of bank premises on social media.

5.6 Speaking up

Report suspected fraud or misconduct through the whistleblowing line. Reports may be anonymous and retaliation is not tolerated.

6. Exceptions and escalation

- Unsure whether a gift or activity is allowed: ask Compliance before accepting.

7. Records and retention

Declarations and gift registers: 7 years. Records are kept in the branch file room or the document management system and destroyed only under the bank's records retention schedule. Records that are part of an open complaint, dispute, audit or investigation are kept until it is closed.

8. Monitoring and quality assurance

Back office quality assurance reviews a sample of files every month against this policy and reports exceptions to the branch manager and to Human Resources. Repeated exceptions at a branch are reported to the Head of Branch Operations. Internal audit may review compliance with this policy at any time.
